Glacier Park Trip

Hello

What a couple of months! June was the big date of the one man show I was preparing for at the Art Spirit Gallery. The opening was packed and sales were great selling half of the 20 new works! After months of painting in my "cave" it was nice to see the positive response and to get a chance to talk with collectors and other artists. Thank you everyone that attended my portrait painting demonstration and show at the gallery! It was a smash!

The only events this month are beach days with the family and lots of easel time. Hope you all are enjoying the summer!

favorite subject of mine, I love the power and action of the work horses.

Daniel

12" by 16"

This is the finished product from the Saturday demo at the Art Spirit Gallery. Daniel is my brother in law and did a great job modeling. I had a good start at the demo then took it home and finished the painting from a photo. Working from life first gave me a chance to capture the attitude and the light harmony. After that it is just work and design.

love the harmony of mornings and grazing animals, it's like "the smell of napalm in the morning" for artists!

Glacier Park Trip June 2011

Many Glacier Lodge "En Plein Air"

8" by 10"

This is a sketch of the view from the Many Glacier Lodge in Glacier Park, Montana. The is an unadulterated plein air sketch; painted on site with my french easel. With my plein sketches I resist the urge to go in and fix at the studio. These sketches are what inspire and spark the memory. Notice the thumb print right side, the trick is to let the painting dry before getting the bugs out!

The video is my first attempt at youtubing so please be gracious. The video is from the same trip as the painting above last month in Glacier. As artist we like our space to be inspired and get into the groove, so in the video I am alone... well kind of.
